MAKING HIS POINT: Chairman of the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan Committee of the Union Government RA Mashelkar addressing the gathering during the event, on Friday.

LOGO UNVEILED

Mashelkar administered the oath of cleanliness to the students. About 800 student volunteers are ready for the campaign. The logo of 'Swachh MIT - Ek Prayas Swachh Bharat ke Taraf' was unveiled by Mashelkar.

President, MAEER's MIT Group of Institutions, and other senior functionaries of the institution were also present.

Mashelkar said that the committee has 19 members. "We are mainly looking after the technological part of the cleanliness of the country but change in the mindset of the people is also very essential. Swachh Bharat," he stressed.

According to him, cleanliness should become a habit for everybody. "The learned people are creating garbage and the lowermost class cleans it. Hence, we should become safaiwalas (cleaners) rather than the kacharawalas (garbage creators)," he added.

Vishwanath D Karad also spoke at the event.

The workers were felicitated by the chief guest at the event.
